Scientists have found that stress turns hair white in mice. They did tests on mice to find how stress affected them. The scientists offered the mice the heat-giving ingredient in chili peppers. This caused a hair-coloring chemical in the mice to overwork in reaction to the stress by which the mice’s hair quickly turned white. A scientist said that was far away from what he imagined.

For centuries, people have believed that stress turns hair gray. France’s Queen Marie Antoinette’s hair, for example, was thought to turn gray the night before she was killed during the French Revolution. Lately, the hair of world leaders has quickly turned gray. The strains of being leaders have gone to hair follicles. The loss of the color-regenerating cells is forever—that is to say, the damage is long-lasting. Besides, it is found that stress could also make people get old faster.

People often say, "I love you to the moon and back" to tell someone special how strong their love is. A Japanese fashion billionaire will go to the moon and back with his love. The only problem is that he does not have a loved one yet. Yusaku Maezawa, 44, is looking for a "special someone" to join him on a trip to the moon in 2023. Mr. Maezawa made his billions from his fashion company Zozo Inc. He has paid to be the very first private passenger to fly to the moon. He will be the first customer of Elon Musk's space travel company SpaceX and the universe's first space tourist. However, he does not want to go on his own. He wants to visit such a special place with someone special.

Mr. Maezawa has created a TV program called Full Moon Lovers to look for a female friend to fly into space with. On a website for the TV show, he wrote: "I'm 44 now. As feelings of being lonely and empty slowly begin to come to me, there's one thing that I think about—continuing to love one woman. I want to find a 'life partner'. With that future partner of mine, I want to shout our love and shout for world peace from outer space." Maezawa's ideal candidate is aged 20 or above, single, and must be "always positive." She must also be interested in going into space. He tweeted: "Wanted! Why not be the 'first woman' to travel to the moon?"
