IV、閱讀測驗 (12% , 每題 2 分)

(30-31)

Service Dogs

People train service dogs to help disabled people. These dogs need to finish at least 120 hours of training and pass tests before working as service dogs. Their job is to help the owner live more conveniently. They can even go to the places with "No Pets" signs. When they work, people can't play with them. Service dogs can be any kind of size. We usually see big dogs like Labradors as service dogs. However, small dogs can also be service dogs.

 disable 有殘疾的 ; Labradors 拉布拉多

30. Which is true?
- (A) Small dogs can't be service dogs.
 - (B) When service dogs work, people can't play with them.
 - (C) Service dogs can't go to the places with "No Pets" signs.
 - (D) Before working, service dogs don't need to finish any training or pass any tests.
31. Who may need a service dog?
- (A) Jane, a six-year-old girl, has problems reading books.
 - (B) Hank, a thirteen-year-old boy, didn't do well on the math test.
 - (C) Judy, a sixty-year-old woman, lost her two sons a few years ago.
 - (D) Tony, a forty-year-old man, lost his eyes when a car hit him last year.

(32-33)

Mask Pollution

In the past year, wearing a mask is a part of our daily lives because of COVID 19. However, the growing number of the used masks causes some serious problems.

In 2020, there were about 52 billion masks all over the world. People didn't recycle these masks and just threw them out with other garbage. Because of these careless actions, thousands of masks went into the ocean. Fish and other sea animals got tangled up in them. What's worse is that some sea animals may eat them and become sick or even die.

What can we do about this problem? First, wear cloth masks. We can wash them when they get dirty, and then re-use them. By doing this, we can see less mask trash. Second, cut the mask straps before you throw out the masks. Fish and sea animals will be much safer.

Everyone needs to take better care of our ocean. Fighting for COVID-19 is very important, and saving the ocean is also what everyone should do.

 pollution 污染 ; recycle 回收 ; get tangled up 被纏住
cloth 布 ; strap 帶子

32. What does "them" mean in the reading?

33. Which can't we know from the reading?
- (A) We can take better care of our ocean by wearing masks.
 - (B) To make less mask trash, we can try to wear cloth masks.
 - (C) A lot of masks went into the ocean because of people's careless action.
 - (D) Cutting the mask straps before throwing out a mask can't save ocean animals.

(34-35)

Every year, people create around 5,400 new words, and you will find about 1,000 of them in the dictionaries. Do you know how? What are the interesting stories behind the new words?

In 1930s, many people had just two meals on Sundays, so they combined breakfast with lunch and made the new word “brunch”. The new word told the story of how people changed their eating habits.

People created some words by new things and ideas, like notebook computer, e-mail...

People made other words by accident. In 2002, an Australian guy took a photo of himself and uploaded it to the Internet. He did this because he hurt his lips and wanted to know whether they were all right. On the page, he wrote, “it was a selfie,” next to his photo. People defined the word selfie as taking a photo of oneself. People use it all over the world now.

In 2014, a group of people took a selfie, and they called it an “usie.” Can you guess what the word usie means?

 combine 結合；by accident 意外地
upload 上傳；whether 是否；define 定義

34. What does “usie” mean in the reading?

- (A) It means that we take a picture of ourselves.”
- (B) It means that we take a picture of a group of people.”
- (C) It means that we can upload the photo to the Internet.”
- (D) It means that we can define a photo by changing a word.”
